A calculated risk

Maybe we are hardhearted but we do not find ourselves having very much sympathy for the Doukhobor women who were burned when they set fire to their bedding in Oakalla prison the other day. Burns, of course, are painful; we recognize that. But these women, in their fanatical desire to cause trouble, took a calculated risk. They were well aware of the fact that once they set a fire they might suffer painful burns or, indeed, lose their lives. They gambled and won, at least insofar as their lives are concerned. That they suffered painful burns—well, they asked for them.

"Colombie Canadienne?"

Few people, at this stage of our development, are likely to quarrel too violently with the expression of a healthy Canadian nationalism. But what is to be made of a descriptive paragraph in Le Progress du Saguenay, a daily published in Chicoutimi, Quebec, which reproduces a photograph of the modernized frigate of the Canadian navy, Lauzon, noting below that her commander hails from Chemsinus, "en Colombie Canadienne"?

Purely from the standpoint of the proprietors, would it not be well to consult the people of British Columbia before thus changing the name of their province. Perhaps, they have no desire to have it called "Canadian Columbia."

There may be others who would welcome some slight preparation before being overwhelmed by this novel mode of speech, however accurate it may be. "B.C." falls trippingly from the tongue; its potential successor sounds like a holdover from the alphabetical days of the Roosevelt era. Fancy telling your neighbors that your home is in Kelowna, Double-C!

Protecting public investment

At the last session of the British Columbia Legislature approval without dissent was given to a bill to regulate marginal development along new highways. The fact that it was unopposed by any party shows a general recognition of the need to protect public investment. The bill itself was a carry-over from the former government which the new government carried through and placed on the statute books.

Uncontrolled stragglings of arterial highways, built at enormous cost, paid for mainly by the motoring public, presents a serious problem to governments everywhere on this continent. There has been reluctance to restrain commercial enterprises from locating wherever they may believe there is business offering; yet as the density of motor traffic increases it has become obvious that trunk highways cannot fulfill their primary purpose when hemmed in by ribbon development. British Columbia breaks new ground in Canada by taking legislative action to save these expensive highways from degenerating into mere local roads.

The measure which the House endorsed goes further than control of roadside commercial ventures. It is aimed also at preventing the cross-hatching of provincial roads with local roads likely to cause congestion of arterial traffic. Application of this restriction will affect the development projects of local authorities, but in explaining the intention of the bill the government gave assurance that there will be full co-operation with municipal councils and planning boards in organized districts.

This legislation is framed in such a way as to place very wide authority in the hands of the minister of public works; but from a practical point of view it is difficult to see how control over ribbon development could be exercised otherwise. Situations are bound to arise which could not be foreseen in a single piece of legislation, and it will be necessary to deal with each case on its merits. So long as the act is interpreted fairly and reasonably there can be little valid objection to it, though the minister is likely to encounter opposition from the type of individual who sees a new highway built at public expense as a golden opportunity for commercial profit.

Business ventures already established alongside existing highways will not be interfered with, the government has said. The restrictions will apply only to future construction. All who might contemplate locating alongside a highway thus are forewarned, and there should be no hardship to anyone. Altogether this appears to be a sound piece of legislation, and an essential one if waste of public money is to be prevented.

Two convicted youths face further charges

Two Notch Hill youths will face further theft charges at Vernon following their conviction on two burglary charges at Salmon Arm last Monday.

The pair—Walter Leroy Woolridge, 22, and Gilbert Carol Weige, 18—drew an 18-month sentence each at Salmon Arm for breaking and entering a store and garage there December 29.

Earlier this week, they appeared in police court here and were sentenced to 18-month terms for breaking into Ladd's Garage early last Saturday morning and stealing a safe containing cash, cheques and company records, and a previous break-in at Newson's Grocery store at Five Bridges last October 18.

The pair were arrested by RCMP last Saturday afternoon at Salmon Arm after a valley-wide alert was broadcast by police.

A 400-pound safe stolen from Ladd's Garage was recovered from Canyon Creek after police descended a 400-foot cliff to get at it.

The youths pleaded guilty at Armstrong Tuesday to breaking and entering the Superior Store there on the same night as the Salmon Arm break-in and received an 18-month sentence each.

All sentences will run concurrently. Woolridge and Weige will be taken to Vernon to stand trial in the D. Bews, who again heads this latter future for breaking and entry at an Imperial Oil Service station six miles north of Vernon.

Jaycees to hold St. Pat's dance

The Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a new members' night at its next regular meeting March 1.

Films were shown last Monday night during the monthly meeting and plans were discussed for a proposed St. Patrick's Day dance—sponsored by the Kelowna Jaycees—tentatively set for March 20.

Mill to take back between 80-100 men

It will be "back to work" for between 80 and 100 men at the S. M. Simpson Ltd. Mill next week—possibly on Monday.

According to mill officials, a head of steam has been worked up, but during the next few days motors and turbines will be tested. Inspection of some of the pipes has revealed that they developed cracks due to the cold weather.

"All machinery will be tested this week in anticipation of partial resumption of operations next week," a mill official stated. Sawmill and planing mill departments will be the first to resume operations.

The IWA strike, which closed the mill for over three months, was officially ended Monday. At peak operations, Simpson's employs around 175 men.

Library official disagrees with "book-burning" mayor

Suggestion by Victoria's Mayor C. L. Harrison that so-called "subversive" books in the public library be burned has met with disapproval by the provincial Public Library Commission.

Commission superintendent C. K. Morison—here to attend the annual meeting today of the Kelowna Public Library board—said that the commission feels that the public is entitled to know all sides of any question, whether political or religious, and this source of information must be available to those that wish it.

"It is only right that we know the attitude of people who oppose our view . . . to know how they think gives us a defence of our own way of life," said Mr. Morison, who has been with the commission since 1940.

He pointed out that the public Library Commission helps British Columbia's eight municipal and three regional libraries and maintains a travelling library—books mailed by the commission for smaller centres where no facilities are in existence.

The superintendent added that advice, not direction, is the work of the commission.

Requests city instal storm drain corner Roanoke and Ellis

A. B. W. Wigglesworth, of Newton's Grocery, has petitioned the city to instal a storm drain at the corner of Roanoke and Ellis Street. Mr. Wigglesworth said that while the city installed a "french" drain last year, it is far from adequate. Melting snow has left puddles of water several inches deep. The matter was referred to the 1954 public works estimates.

"Pests of theatres"

Sssh . . . you must not rustle paper bags, crack popcorn or talk while little theatre production is underway! And above all . . . DO NOT arrive at the theatre late!

By "THE BEAVER"

This man Graham Suter is apparently building up quite a reputation for himself, even though he's been in Canada for only a few weeks.

The 34-year-old experienced British actor, who arrives here Sunday to adjudicate Kelowna Little Theatre's play "Ah Wilderness" Monday night, has been handing out criticism right and left, and strangely enough the audience likes it. Western Canada dailies, particularly the Winnipeg Free Press, have been giving Mr. Suter a big play, and in order to prepare Kelownians for what they may expect, we're going to do a little quizzing.

In the first place, Mr. Suter has no patience with those people who like to make a "grand entrance" by arriving a few minutes late for a play, concert, or what have you. And while we're on the subject, Mrs. Christine DeHart informs us that KLT will receive demerit marks if the curtain goes up a few minutes late—caused invariably by late arrivals or lingering too long in the foyer during the intermission.

EXPERIENCED ACTOR

Mr. Suter, an experienced actor, director and adjudicator, is a member of the British Guild of Drama Adjudicators and has a degree in modern languages from Cardiff University.

Born in Barry, South Wales, he has travelled across Canada, he will see 55 three-act plays and about 12 one-act plays. Finally for the Dominion drama festival in Hamilton will be held May 10-15.

"PESTS OF THEATRE"

But to come back to Mr. Suter's remarks on audience-interruption.

Under doctor's orders to rest

Author Ernest Hemingway sprawls on a bed on Nairobi, Kenya, and relaxes with a paper-backed novel. Hemingway was ordered to bed for three days because of delayed shock from injuries suffered when he lived through two plane crashes in the elephant country of Uganda. Doctors said there was no concern over his condition, but that the rugged writer needed a complete rest after his series of adventures.

Tax pre-payments may make it unnecessary for city to borrow money from bank

Judging by the way Kelowna land owners are making pre-payment of taxes, thereby taking advantage of the four percent interest rate, the city may not have to borrow money from the bank this year.

It is a normal procedure for a municipality to borrow money for a short period until tax receipts and other sources or revenue start rolling in to bolster city coffers.

Last year, thanks to tax pre-payments, the city was able to carry on without borrowing additional funds. Already this year, tax pre-payments exceed the 1953 collections by $13,316.88. Total of $50,555.77 has been received to date.

City Comptroller Doug Herbert also reported that 191 tax licences have been issued to date along with 16 professional licences.

Wage boost granted local firemen to offset 40-hour week granted other unions

Wage increases ranging from $22.0 to $27.60 a month have been granted paid employees of the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Department on a "compromise basis," in view of the fact that three other civic unions are now working a 40-hour-five-day week.

Due to the nature of their work, the paid firemen work 44 hours a week. Contract runs for a two-year period, and it also calls for three weeks holiday with pay after two years' service, in lieu of statutory holidays.

Under the new contract, a four year fireman will now receive $300 a month, an increase of $27.60; a three-year fireman $283, a boost of $25.80; a two-year man, $268, a jump of $23.60; and first year fireman $250, an increase of $22.60.

Signing of the contract with the Okanagan Valley Fire Fighters' Union, local 953, now completes all working agreements with the city. Recently, the city and three other

More hotel accommodation and increase in tourist business predicted

Board of Trade officials, resort owners, and others closely connected with the tourist industry, this morning welcomed the announcement that the City of Kelowna has been designated a liquor licencing area by the provincial government.

Those closely connected with the tourist industry are confident that visitors will remain longer in the city, while the construction industry will receive a "shot in the arm" as the amended liquor laws will also encourage hotel operators to make extensive improvements to present buildings, thus giving Kelowna much-needed additional accommodation.

Last night the provincial government announced that Kelowna had been included in 22 B.C. cities as liquor licencing areas. This brings to 26 the number of such districts designated in the province, under B.C.'s new liquor laws.

"I think it will help the tourist business considerably," commented Ald. Dick Parkinson. "It will also give Kelowna some much-needed additional hotel accommodation and will be responsible for a very good building year."

While hotel operators are non-committal about future expansion until certain points have been clarified, it is known the Royal Anne Hotel plans extensive improvements. The hotel operators have been working on building plans for some time.

Newly-elected Board of Trade president J. K. Campbell remarked that the general membership some time ago went on record favoring cocktail lounges in Kelowna.

Mayor Ladd stated he is pleased that the public will have an opportunity to express themselves "in a democratic manner."

The B.C. liquor control board now will receive applications for such as night clubs, and restaurants. Licences in 23 new areas. Supporters of a local option vote will have 35 days to either persuade city councils to ask for one or secure signatures of 35 percent of electorates as a petition seeking a vote.

If the vote is obtained, a 55 percent affirmative margin is required to permit applications for licences to be granted. The new liquor act provides for four types of premises—public houses similar to beer parlours; cocktail bars; dining lounges such as night clubs, and restaurants. Liquor by the glass may be served in cocktail bars and dining lounges, beer and wines only in restaurants and beer only in public houses.

The new districts designated as licencing areas include Nelson, Trail, Kimberley, Kaslo, Greenwood, Grand Forks, Fernie, Kamloops, Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton, Prince George, Rupert, Alton, Port Alberni, Duncan, Ladysmith, Courtenay, Revelstoke, Rossland, Salmon Arm and Cranbrook, and the village of Creston.

Already declared licencing areas were four main population centres of Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nanaimo.

Plan to remove "blind" corner on Vernon road

Provincial public works department plans to remove the "blind" corner in the vicinity of the Kumbly Auto Court on the Vernon road.

It is planned to remove a number of fruit trees on the northeast corner which will improve the view of motorists. For the present, it is not intended to pave the corner or to remove the power pole.

In the past there have been a number of accidents at the Kumbly Auto Court corner as motorists are unable to see an approaching car.

Peachland woman observes 89th birthday today

PEACHLAND—Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, known to her many friends as "Granny Wilson" today was receiving congratulations from her family and friends on the occasion of her 89th birthday.

Married in Langdon, North Dakota, 62 years ago to Alan Wilson, who passed away in 1944, "Granny" can still read without glasses and keeps busy chopping her own wood, knitting and working in her garden.

Preliminary steps taken forming bridge committee

An Okanagan Lake bridge committee under the chairmanship of C. E. R. Bazett will be set up by the Kelowna Board of Trade within the near future.

This was disclosed at Tuesday's executive meeting when President J. K. Campbell stated that a "definite plan of action will be formulated." Most of next week's meeting will be devoted to discussing the bridge question.

Sweeping support for the bridge has been received by the Kelowna Board of Trade from a wide area. Formation of a valley-wide committee will likely follow, and it is expected that support from Revelstoke and Kamloops will also be forthcoming, as the proposed bridge will serve the whole network of interior and Trans-Canada highways.

Nearly thirty organizations have endorsed the bridge, including boards of trade at Kamloops, Kelowna, Vernon, Penticton, and individuals.

While the Penticton Board of Trade has tabled a resolution regarding the bridge and has appointed a special committee to investigate the matter, local trade board officials hope that this group too will throw their weight behind the scheme.

It was pointed out that through united effort, the Okanagan was able to interest the federal and provincial government in the Okanagan Flood Control project.

Remarkable trade board vice-president W. B. Hughes-Games, "W. Hughes-Games," worked hard to help Penticton get the Hope-Princeton Highway, suggesting that it was now time the whole Okanagan united in getting a bridge.

Vehicle licence deadline Feb. 26

Deadline for new motor vehicle licences is officially February 26—but there's a catch to it this year.

February 26 is a Sunday and February 27 is a Saturday—the government office here is closed Saturdays—so government agent Ross Outman said this week that motorists are advised to buy their new 1954 commercial or passenger licences by February 26 at the latest.

So far this year, 304 passenger car licences have been sold—more than at the same time a year ago. Sale of commercial licences (trucks, etc.) is up 15 to date.

Sports Parade

By RON BAIRD

The results of last Tuesday night's hockey game against Penticton V's must have heartened many a Packer fan, as it certainly did the players.

Dropping the V's in their tracks with a 7-1 score—something that Penticton hasn't had happen to them for some time—brings to mind that it has been more than two years since a Kelowna team has whipped the league leaders on their home ice. It also snapped Penticton's 18-home-game victory streak and probably settled a bit of gloom over the V's camp.

The Tuesday night win also avenges the 7-1 loss handed Packers in the final game of the 1952-53 playoff series when V's eliminated Kelowna in a rather humiliating manner.

There'll doubtless be a few fans who might feel constrained to point out that the three Warwicks—Grant, Bill and Dick—were not on the ice to lend a helping hand and thus save V's from the scorching defeat they suffered. It's hardly likely that the Warwicks would have been able to stem the Kelowna tide, although they might have been able to add a goal here and there.

FRANK HOSKINS

OSAHL hockey can recover from their embarrassment.

Packers confident of second win

Coach Phil Hergesheimer assures me that it's going to happen and, in passing, pointed out that Packers have won seven out of their last nine games, losing only to Kamloops. Packers are now back on the safe side of the see-sawing standings by one point, having bumped Kamloops back into the cellar.

As this is being written Wednesday, before the results of the Vernon-Trail game are known, one might conjure up the following little bit of arithmetic... if Vernon loses, we are then in the place, one jump away from first place—or rather, a leap, because it would require 17 points to tie Penticton, provided V's lost all their next games.

As Hergy pointed out, Packers have seven more home games and four out-of-town tilts before the playoffs start... he's in hopes that the majority of them will be successful ventures.

As the result of a sterling engagement up Kamloops way Saturday night, the one in which Packers put Elks away by a 6-5 margin, with Mike Durban doing the final honors to break the tie, the Kamloops Hot Stove League picked Bo Carlson and Bill McCulley for their three-star award, both of whom deserved the honor.

Modest award for modest guy

Down at this end, we are going to hand out a modest award to a modest guy, Frank Hoskins, long-time Packer as hard a worker on the ice as we have, and one of those who contributed so roundly to the fate of the V's Tuesday night.

A tip of the hat, also, to Don Culey, who put two goals away in the Penticton net the same night.

Tonight, Packer fans will see our latest import, Don Smith, late of Vancouver Canucks, in action for the first time on Kelowna ice.

Bolstered by recent successes, Packers will be out to win again and, if enthusiasm is any yard-stick, Hergy and the team are counting on two more points by the time the evening is over.

Kelowna Packers in third place after beating Penticton V's 7-1

As the result of a 7-1 win over Penticton V's Tuesday night, Kelowna Packers are now only two points behind second-place Vernon Canadians in unofficial OSAHL standings. Kelowna meets Penticton again tonight at the Memorial Arena at 8:00 p.m.

Standings to February 4 follow:

	P	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts
Penticton	50	32	16	2	204	208	66
Vernon	50	23	24	3	238	228	49
Kelowna	53	23	29	1	218	234	47
Kamloops	51	21	26	4	201	217	46

Vernon juveniles' victory drops Kelowna from series

Vernon juveniles knocked Kelowna out of the playoff series last Monday at Vernon with an easy 6-4 victory in the second game of a best-of-three series.

John Basiw of Vernon scored the first of two goals at 48 of the opener, adding his second mid-way through the period. Kelowna's Jack Howard evened up the count at 3:52.

But Vernon wound up one goal ahead at the end of the frame despite a second Kelowna marker at 18:28.

Vernon took a four-goal lead in the second period when Johnny

Vernon net and failed to follow his lead.

Referee Don Jakes thumbed seven Vernon and four Kelowna players to the penalty box on minors.

PUBLIC MEETING

Recreation Commission

Legislation was passed at the last session of the Provincial Government setting up a COMMUNITY PROGRAMMES BRANCH within the Department of Education for the purpose of stimulating and assisting in the organization and the co-ordination of public recreation centres, large and small, in all parts of the Province.

A PUBLIC MEETING will be held on Wednesday, February 10th, 1954 at 3:00 p.m. in the Committee Room of the City Hall to organize a LOCAL RECREATION COMMISSION. All representatives of any interested organizations are cordially invited to attend this meeting—ART, HOBBY, RECREATION, STUDY, MUSIC, ARCHERY and all SPORTS groups.

D. B. HERBERT, City Controller,

City Hall, Kelowna, B.C.

Plan to set up recreation body next Wednesday

Preliminary steps will be taken next Wednesday to set up an athletic recreation commission in Kelowna.

Ald. Dick Parkinson informed council Monday night that a special meeting is being called and that representatives of various organizations will be invited to a meeting to be held in the city hall committee room next Wednesday at 3:00 p.m.

Under the new plan set up by the provincial government, it is necessary for municipalities to have a recreation commission before they can receive special grants for this purpose.

Mr. Parkinson said that a conference is being held in Victoria the end of this month, and if a local recreation commission is formed, Kelowna can send a delegate to the party, all expenses paid.

Christmas TB seal sales total $2,000

Mrs. A. H. Hooper, Patterson Avenue, chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal committee reports that sale of TB seals during the past season exceeded the $2,000 mark in the area from Winfield to Peachland.

The committee paid tribute to those who sent in contributions to the Christmas seal fund, and reminds any who may still wish to contribute, that while the campaign for TB seals closes at the end of February, the need is ever present and donations are gratefully received throughout the year.

The committee also points out that some people in enclosing money in the inner envelope, scratch or mark out their name and address before returning it. Those in charge of mailing would be grateful if names are left as they are, regardless of contributions sent or seals returned, as the name on each envelope must be filed and accounted for, no small task with a mailing list numbering three thousand.

In cases where seals may not be wanted, these people defeat their own purpose, as, after two years seals are no longer mailed where there is a lack of response.

Baptist mission work outlined

Baptist mission work in Bolivia was the subject of a talk given by the Rev. David Phillips at First Baptist Church on Monday, when children and adults were in attendance.

First Baptist Church adult bible class holds social evening

The "Berian" adult bible class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin, Water Street, last Friday, when a social evening was enjoyed. Officers elected were J. Thorneber continuing as teacher.

A selection of beautiful colored slides was shown by Mr. Martin, following which refreshments were served by Mrs. Martin and her daughter, Mrs. E. Anderson.

Friends surprise Rutland couple on anniversary

Surprised by a group of almost a score of their friends on the occasion of last Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, of Rutland, who were married in Hungary, but who have lived in the Okanagan since coming to Canada in 1929. Coming directly to Kelowna they made their home here for sixteen years, then went to Peachland for four years, after which they moved to Rutland where they have twenty acres of orchard.

Of their family of five, two girls and three boys, the eldest, Margaret, (Mrs. J. Ziajka), was married last July and lives in Calgary. The younger daughter, Elizabeth, works in BCTF. John, the eldest son, works in the Rutland Meat Market and Nick and Joy still attend the Rutland school.

The surprise visitors last Friday brought gifts of silver, and a two-tiered wedding cake to Mr. and Mrs. Bauer, while flowers and a phone call from their daughter in Calgary completed the enjoyment of their day.

JANET HAYMAN STARS

KLT's 'Arsenic and Old Lace' entertaining, well-acted

By RON BAIRD

For their second play of the current season, Kelowna Little Theatre chose Joseph Kesserling's delightful comedy of murder and mischief, Arsenic and Old Lace, and the results turned out to be most adequate.

The play opened last Monday night for a two-day run at the Empress Theatre to a large and responsive audience, whose obvious enthusiasm tended to obscure by ill-timed applause some of Kesserling's more wittier lines.

However, the cast, in the main, was more than able to cope with the situation and delivered a good performance.

Arsenic and Old Lace is woven about a pattern of amiable eccentricity, being the story of two elderly spinsters—Abby and Martha Brewster—who make a practise of befriending lonely old gentlemen, then neatly dispose of them via a glass of poisoned elderberry wine and a final resting place in their cellar.

In the latter operation, they are ably assisted by a weak-witted nephew, Teddy, who suffers the pleasant delusion that he is president of the United States (Teddy Roosevelt).

Throughout the plot are scattered side issues—the romance of a second nephew, drama critic Mortimer, and a parson's daughter, Elaine; the visit of a third nephew, homicidally-inclined Jonathan, his plastic surgeon friend, Dr. Einstein and police officer O'Hara, whose ambitions lie more with literature than law.

FINE PERFORMANCE
As Abby Brewster, I thought Janet Hayman turned in by far the best performance of the evening. Her characterization of the elderly Aunt Abby was excellent.

It was a simple matter to dissociate oneself with the thought that Mrs. Hayman was merely a member of the cast acting quite a difficult role. She, to me, WAS Abby Brewster. Mrs. Hayman received excellent support from Nancy Gale, who played Martha.

In an equally difficult role, that of Teddy, Roy Lebb turned in a good performance also. I thought Gordon Sundin, who I understand, has not been too long in the theatre, did a most creditable job as the literary-minded officer O'Hara.

Other roles, particularly those played by supporting players who had a fair share of the lines, were well done.

Mrs. W. J. Logie, who produced and directed Arsenic and Old Lace, deserved the warm applause that greeted both herself and the cast at the conclusion of the evening.

Sets and lighting, by Edric Oswell and Dave Anderson, respectively, added immeasurably to the play.

Costumes were handled by Miss Mary Wilson.

Cast in order of appearance: Abby Brewster, Janet Hayman; The Rev. Dr. Harper, Arthur Hall; Teddy Brewster, Roy Lebb; officer Brophy, James A. MacPhail; officer Klein, Bob Leckie; Martha Brewster, Nancy Gale; Elaine Harper, Mary Wilson; Mortimer Brewster, Thomas Marsh; Mr. Gibbs, Hugh Barrett; Jonathan Brewster, Ernie Busch; Dr. Einstein, Frank Pitt; officer O'Hara, Gordon Sundin; Lieutenant Rooney, Nicholas van der Vliet; Mr. Witherspoon, Ron Irwin; Prompter, Margaret Crosbie.

Little Theatre presents "Ah Wilderness"
in B.C. regional drama festival Monday

The Kelowna Little Theatre production of the late Eugene O'Neill's three-act comedy "Ah Wilderness"—regional entry in the Dominion Drama Festival—will be staged here next Monday for adjudication by Graham Suter, of England.

Mr. Suter is a member of the British Guild of Drama Adjudicators and is making his first visit to Canada. He is scheduled to arrive here Sunday.

Kelowna is one of three entries in the fifteenth B.C. Regional Drama Festival. The others are Trail and Victoria.

The play, set in a small Connecticut town in 1908, concerns a family whose 16-year-old son, Richard, becomes involved with "radical" literature, a girl and questionable company. In the end, all his problems are straightened out to the satisfaction of himself and his distraught parents.

JACK WEINTZ

"Ah Wilderness" is produced and directed by school-teacher Frank Bishop, with sets by Edric Oswald. It opened the 1953-54 drama season here last November, and will once again be staged at the Empress Theatre.

SUFFERING PARENTS
The 16-year-old youth, Richard Miller, will be played by Jack Weintz, while the roles of his long-suffering parents are being handled by Charles Patrick and Dagne Macgregor.

Red Hughes will play the role of rascally Uncle Sid.

CHARLES PATRICK

To say there has been "blood, sweat and tears" over the entry in the festival this year, is not far from the truth. Scheduled to appear in Vancouver on February 10, the KLT soon discovered that this was quite impossible, and after a great deal of time and correspondence, the festival committee in Kelowna decided that the adjudicator should do the travelling, not the competitors. Of course, this meant a great deal less expense for the local group and has eased the situation.

DAGNY MACGREGOR

However, certain expenses will have to be paid by the KLT, but the majority of the expenses will be taken care of by the B.C. regional festival committee. Incidentally, this committee gets any profit that is made. The surplus (if any) made by the three festival entries, will be used to send the winning B.C. entry to Hamilton if they are asked to compete. There are 13 regions according to the Dominion Festival, and only eight are invited to compete in the final.

MANY TOPICS

Amendments to the income tax act, educational questionnaires, and other Chamber of Commerce activities on a provincial and dominion scale, are among items discussed by the national affairs committee of the Kelowna Board of Trade.

I wish we all might have the gift,
To help when there's a load to lift,
Just in a kind and loving way,
Help others drive the blues away.
Such traits my friends we may acquire,
If we're equipped with such desire,
We're really like the summer showers
When we claim such traits are ours.

pect and sound common sense. He heates the idea of people going to the theatre to be "educated" and apparently regard it as a place where you are moved to laughter, pity and thrills.

That is why most people go to a movie house, or a stage show or concert. They don't say: "I must go out and get some education this evening."

"He made no mention in his speech of "the living drama" he did not need the "cinema" . . . in fact he had a refreshing lack of the affectations sometimes found in our adjudicators.

"Mr. Suter is in Canada for 13 week as regional adjudicator of the Dominion Drama Festival and for the next four nights will judge five plays in the Manitoba region festival at the Playhouse theatre.

"He said he felt that there was little possibility that professional theatre could exist in Canada at the present time. He thought towns were too small to support it and distances presented too great an obstacle to touring groups. The inevitable competition of television loomed as another obstacle, he believed.

STRUGGLE OVERSEAS

"Even in England professional theatre is struggling for existence in some highly industrial centres, he said.

"Though Mr. Suter has been adjudicating for five years in England along with his acting and directing career, he said he was looking forward to a new experience at the Manitoba regional festival.

"So far, he has adjudicated at Toronto and Windsor, where amateur groups have a closer touch to professional theatre.

"But here I will see, I believe,

the amateur working almost undermined by professional theatre. It will be my first experience also with

Canadian writers plays and my first adjudication of a French play."

LAUDS CANADIANS

"Mr. Suter lauded Canadian groups for their choice of a "better type of play." The 12 plays he has seen so far, he said, have given him

generally, a favorable impression of Canadian stage work.

"But he continued, one important element which he looks for is imagination in the performance.

"But the whole spirit of the festival is to learn, a thing which competitive teams must always keep in mind," the adjudicator advised.

OKANAGAN BRIDGE

The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir:—Referring to H. H. Johnson's statements concerning the Naramata Road and the Okanagan Lake bridge with one lane traffic. With this rate of expression we might as well keep what we've got in a ferry. It is not likely that the board of public works at Victoria, would consent to a one lane traffic bridge with Highway 97 a two lane traffic road.

I spent Christmas holidays at Seattle and that's where our friends more to get his eyes opened up. Across the Washington canal is a four lane traffic with a drawbridge for letting the larger vessels through. From bank to bank may be close to 80 rods or more and I don't think there is more than one pier. The traffic is so great that if a pedestrian wants to cross over to the other side of the bridge, he must wait for an opening and move quickly and make a run for it. There is enough traffic on our Highway 97 or there will be in the near future to warrant a four lane traffic bridge. We might as well be in style as be otherwise. These ferryboats that we have here can be dismembered and moved other places. When the Naramata Road was first projected before World War II, I took the idea that "On to Naramata" would make a very good band march so I wrote a lyric and had it set to music. The Regatta dance master had it for a while and was pleased with it. I had intended to have it published and sell enough sheet music to help finance blasting operations along this road, but the war came on and our road project fell through . . .

While I was at Seattle I could see at a distance other bridges just as long but from 75 feet to 100 feet high so I would suggest to the Board of Trade in Kelowna that we push with all our might and aim for a four lane traffic bridge then we would really have something worthwhile to look at for future generations.

Yours sincerely,
WESLEY SEARLE.

DRAMA FESTIVALS

The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir:—With reference to the possibility of the drama festival adjudicator attending the performance of each local group in their own cities or towns, I regard this as an excellent suggestion, as it is one we discussed as a possibility with Mr. Hurn, of the department of extension, Victoria. However, we were informed it was completely impossible, though we as a group could not see why.

Drama in the communities is the order of the day. The department of extension, Theatre anywhere is a necessity. The smaller cities are quite frequently deprived of the chance to see or hear of the good productions, not having touring companies to frequent their locations.

If drama is to be encouraged, it would appear the smaller communities are definitely the areas to encourage an help. Most of these groups are dependent on their own ability to earn their local productions to sustain the club, with very little capital to promote these long and expensive tours, if chosen, to such cities as Vancouver and Victoria.

To be adjudicated by these very excellent people and to discuss the theatre, would to me, seem very worthwhile effort for this department to go more fully into with a view of enlarging the area, that could be given the knowledge these chosen adjudicators are capable of passing on to smaller drama groups.

Adjudication not only has an effect upon performers but upon the audience, making them equally theatre conscious, all adding up to a stimulation in the arts. The majority of theatre groups are hard workers with a keen interest and love of the theatre, though often groping in the dark and with no way to turn for assistance without extreme costs.

CHRISTINE DEHART,
(Mrs. F. DeHart)

LABOR VS. MANAGEMENT

The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir:—As one that has lived a long life, seen many changes, now no longer an employer or employee, I wish, with the editor's kind permission to comment on a situation which, in my humble opinion, appears to be most disturbing, even loaded with dynamite. I refer to the bitter and continually worsening strife between employer and employee.

Born, a farmer's son of a large family, we became too much for our father to support. Some of us had to seek employment away from home. I became a farm laborer for hire. As such I, like others in my class were generally trying to do a good day's work for our pay and to satisfy our employers. Wages were low, too low, around a dollar or a dollar and a half in rural seasons. During slack seasons twelve to fifteen dollars per month, and sometimes in winter, even down to five dollars per month. At that time no one had ever heard of labor unions in our parts. Nor of union security, vacations and holidays with pay, sick benefits and free hospitalization, free medicine, or unemployment insurance. We could and did provide that for ourselves except in extreme cases, and in those there were always some ready and willing to help out.

Our modern population of today no doubt wonders what we could have for amusement and entertainment on such low income. Don't worry. Sunday mornings we went to church. We had our picnics, baseball games, card games, dances and sporting societies, and many other social functions. We had our fun, yes, and we had spelling bees. We probably got as much kick out of all this as the moderns get out of their high-powered cars at 80 or 100 mph.

In those days the seven- or eight-hour work-day and five-day work-week had not been introduced. Ten hours was perhaps about the average, and in rush seasons sometimes more. No one objected or felt sorry for themselves. Health in general I believe was better than today, even though work was harder owing to the fact that many of the present-day labor-saving gadgets and implements were not yet invented.

Eventually I, like most of my buddies, became farmers on our own, and employers of labor in rush seasons. With others we took fat years with the lean in stride. Wages were steadily advancing (as it properly should) to a certain point, and the quality of labor still good but declining till it came to a point where it took three men to stook up after one binder, each at a wage of $10.00 per day, or a total of $30.00 to do the work ordinarily done by one man when wages were low. And that was not all. Only a few of the stooks would be standing after 24 hours.

But all this is now in the past, so now let us look at the present and future.

Labor unions were first called into being out of necessity to ensure fair pay, fair play and deliverance from the ruthless exploitation of greedy employers of which there were many.

For some time the labor movement was led by men of high ideals motivated by a real desire to improve the overall condition of society, and as such accomplished much in that direction. But the old leaders have passed on, and have been replaced by others, whose motto seems to be "The world owes us a life of luxury, but we don't owe the world or anyone in it anything." Labor has become a harsh master and dictator. It dictates to government, to employer, and often times their strikes cause their employers the greatest possible loss and the general public the most inconvenience and even suffering. They have shifted to the same or worse monetary grasping that it was originally designed to combat. New strikes almost every day demanding higher and ever higher wages with pay, guaranteed annual wage, more security and higher unemployment insurance, etc., till today many avoid employment when offered. They would rather draw the unemployment insurance and idle away their time in search of new and more exciting amusement and games. In every strike they gain their objective. The employer is helpless in dealing with them. Grant their demands today and they will have new ones tomorrow. There seems to be no limit to their excessive demands. "Protection," "Security," "Guaranteed high standard of living" has replaced the old rallying cries of "Fair play and a square deal" of their fathers. Instead "How much can I get for how little done?"

In the meantime, up goes the cost of living. As the cost of all production is governed by the cost of labor necessary to produce, how could it be otherwise? The writer is no prophet, but if the present trend continues the inevitable result must be a crash and chaos such as has never occurred in North America. We have much more reason to be afraid of this, than any external enemy.

This is not a trade against the principle of collective bargaining. It is an attempt to expose what is happening now that a movement that began under worthy auspices and for a worthy purpose, has become a great impersonal machine that deals in dollars and contracts instead of people to the point where it is making the earnest desire to work efficiently appear naive and foolish. I say the thing is out of control and what it is doing to people is not good.

Signed,
O. L. TOFTNER,
Winfield, B.C.

Cold weather curtails local construction

Unusual cold weather last month forced even the carpenters to lay down their tools. At least this was indicated in January building permit values released by building inspector A. E. Clark this week.

Only construction activity took place indoors. Few permits were issued for residential additions or alterations. Construction was valued at $2,200 last month, compared with $3,885 during the corresponding period last year.

Permits for residential alterations were given D. C. Simpson, 310 Strathcona Avenue, $500; G. W. Hall, 770 Wilson Avenue, $300; H. E. Wightman, 2269 Penderol, $600; A. J. Buttice, 2110 Penderol, $200. O. T. Wilson estate, was issued a $350 garage permit, and J. J. Ladd was issued a permit for a new sign valued at $250.

Following is a list of comparative figures for the month of January for the past ten years:

RECORD NUMBER

BANFF, Alta. — Banff national park welcomed a record total of 63,000 visitors in 1953, reports park superintendent, D. M. Brown. Of the 301,000 vehicles registering, 20,000 were from the United States.

Bridge resolution planned at junior chamber meeting

The Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce will table a resolution at the 1954 regional conference of Junior Chambers of Commerce at Penitence in May asking for construction of an Okanagan Lake bridge.

Copy of the resolution was studied by members of the Kelowna junior chamber at their monthly meeting last Monday at the Royal Anne Hotel.

The resolution reads that "the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada (Region 1) strongly urge the government of the province of British Columbia to proceed as soon as may be possible with the building of the bridge under the provincial toll authority between Kelowna and Westbank."

FERRY "BOTTLENECK"

The resolution noted that "highway 97 is now the most important north-south highway in the province" but adds that "a bottleneck exists at the Kelowna ferry which must be removed if the highway is to function as a main route from the western states through B.C. to the Yukon and Alaska."

It points out further, that the ferry system is now costing the province nearly $250,000 per year to operate.

"Under the provincial toll bridge authority, the bridge could be built and the government's annual share of the cost would be no more than that at present being spent on the ferry system and would cease when the bridge is paid for," concluded the resolution.

Interment will be at Kelowna cemetery.

Benefit concert proceeds total around $430

The Joan McIntosh Benefit Concert staged last night in the Anglican Parish Hall by Kelowna and District Credit Union, fulfilled predictions and was an outstanding success with box office receipts amounting to $430. R. C. Gore, treasurer, said there is more to come as proceeds of ticket sales had not yet been turned in and there are many pledged donations.

To music of the red and blue-uniformed Kelowna and District Senior Band under C. E. Sladen, over six hundred people filed steadily into the hall until all available seats were taken.

Efficiency of Mounted Police commended

Ald. Dick Parkinson, at this week's council meeting, commended the local RCMP on their efficiency for quickly apprehending the thieves who broke into Ladd's Garage early Saturday morning.

Mr. Parkinson, who in the past has been somewhat critical of the police, congratulated the mayor on being fortunate in recovering his record books, scattered over a wide area where the safe was found in Canyon Creek. The safe was removed from the garage and one side was chopped open. Two men have since confessed to the robbery.

Mayor Ladd remarked the police "worked like bird dogs" to obtain clues, and he too commented on the efficiency of the local detachment.

It was the first major crime since the new police chief, Cpl. Irving took over as head of the local detachment.

Kelowna Shrine Club sponsors indoor circus

Kelowna Shrine Club will sponsor the Shrine Circus in the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena May 14-15.

Always a major attraction for kiddies—and adults—in larger cities, this will be the first time the Shrine Circus has made an appearance here. A matinee is also planned on May 15.

The Shrine Circus will also appear at Kamloops May 10-11 and at Vernon May 12-13.

Proceeds go toward crippled children's hospitals. Last year the Shriners donated $8,500 to Portland Hospital and $8,000 to the Spokane hospital. Both institutions are owned by Gizeh Temple. In addition, the Shriners donated $4,000 to the Vancouver children's hospital; $4,000 to Queen Alexandra Hospital, and $2,000 to Winnipeg hospital.

All told, donations totalled $38,883.01.

Legion instals executive; command report presented

Newly-elected president P. F. Hilborn and the new executive of the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Legion were installed last week in a brief but impressive ceremony at Legion headquarters.

Comrade R. M. Hayman installed the new officers and presented them with the duties and responsibilities of their office.

Those taking office were G. R. Gray, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. R. S. Leitch, branch chaplain; Jack Bews and R. T. Lewis, vice-presidents; and executive officers E. A. Blackie, Mrs. Jon Bower, J. E. Hay, Val Hunge, Don McKay, W. J. Patterson, E. J. K. Topley and E. C. Waldron.

Members heard a report from the president on the work of the provincial command and the financial statement was read.

The report included the attempt by the command for exemption from the new ten per cent tax on liquor. The provincial command has asked for exemption on the grounds that it is a non-profit organization.

ASSIST PENSIONERS

President Hilborn pointed out that this amount included the assistance of pensioners, scholarships, hospital comforts and equipment, youth organizations, social service aid for veterans and their families, burial grants, clothing and overseas parcels.

It was moved that a further letter be sent to Premier W. A. C. Bennett expressing the strong views of the membership on the question of the ten per cent tax.

(Premier Bennett announced last month that the government is in favor of dropping the newly-imposed tax as it works a hardship on organizations such as the Canadian Legion.)

The president's report also covered the command's work on B.C.

BCFG hail insurance co. writes $3,290,010 business in one year, but claims also highest on record

British Columbia Fruit Growers' Mutual Hail Insurance Company wrote $3,290,010 worth of hail insurance last year, more than double the volume of business compared with the previous season. Claims and adjusting expenses on the other hand were the highest since the company was formed four years ago.

This was disclosed at the annual meeting of the hail insurance board by George N. Northan, BCFGHIC manager. The year 1953 was considered a "test year" for the company, in that the fruit growing area experienced one of the worst hail seasons in recent years. Claims in excess of $180,000 were paid to growers.

Main objective of the company is to provide improved protection at the lowest possible cost.

Mr. Northan said that since the company was formed in 1949, hail risks totalled $5,844,504, while claims paid to growers amounted to $218,732.85. Premium income totalled $4,194,538, and $17,725.76 was returned to members.

PAID ALL CLAIMS

"It is natural with the claim experience of this season that your company will not be paying any rebates as our claims and adjusting expenses definitely exceed our premium income," Mr. Northan declared. "Your company has been able to pay all claims in full in a year such as this and still be in a sound financial position to commence the next season of operation."

Mr. Northan said that in many instances, growers have had light claims they have indicated that the adjustment of their loss was what it should be when compared to packout at the conclusion of the season. He said this indicates the company has reached the point of being able to fulfill the purpose for which it was organized.

The agency will commence operations in mid-February so that more time can be spent with each individual to assure the arrangement of coverage in accordance with crop expectancy, Mr. Northan said.

E. A. Titchmarsh, president of the company, commenting on last year's heavy claims, said the company emerged with "stability unimpaired and confidence in the future."

"It is necessary to have many years of loss experience to compile reliable statistics regarding hail incidence in the insured areas over a long period of time in order to establish a rate structure which would reflect true risk, district by district," Mr. Titchmarsh declared.

"Certain changes in the rate structure were effected on 1953, all in favor of the insured. Policy of the present board of directors has been too narrow, within the limits of sound actual experience, the spread between the highest and the lowest rate. Certain recommendations regarding rates embodying the further experience gained during the year will be made to the new board.

With one exception, all members of the board of directors were re-elected. They are E. A. Titchmarsh, Penticton, chairman; N. R. C. Poolley, Kelowna, vice-chairman; C. M. Nettleton, Naramata; C. E. Bentley, Summerland; E. M. Tait, Summerland; George Turner, Vernon; J. B. Mr. Clark, Keremeos. J. A. English, of Penticton, declined to stand due to pressure of business and was replaced by D. B. Fraser, of Osoyoos. Mr. Northan will continue as manager of the company.

Rightly used, newspaper advertising produces immediate sales action, say officials of Carson, Pirie Scott & Co., Chicago mercantile family on State Street, now observing their firm's centennial year.

The department store in recent years has been spending annually approximately $2,500,000 for newspaper advertising space. This represents from 85 to 90 per cent of the store's total advertising budget. Last year Carson's newspaper ad budget jumped to $2,748,000.

Okanagan Lake bridge plan supported by Peachland

PEACHLAND—Peachland Municipal Council has gone on record supporting the Kelowna Board of Trade brief for construction of a bridge across Lake Okanagan.

Resolution to this effect was passed at the last regular meeting presided over by Reeve G. W. Hawksley. Councillors present were A. E. Miller, L. Ayers, H. Birkelund and F. Khalembach.

The Kelowna trade board is seeking the support of all municipalities, boards of trade and other organizations, in a brief which will be presented to the provincial government in the near future, requesting construction of a bridge under the toll bridge authority plan.

Earlier this year Premier W. A. C. Bennett stated the bridge is feasible and practical, but said it is up to the Okanagan communities to decide if that is what they want.

In the near future all interested organizations will be asked to attend a meeting with a view of forming a recreation commission as required under the Provincial Act. Jim Fenton, district recreational director, will be asked to attend and outline the duties of such a commission.

Tom Coldham tendered his resignation as municipal janitor which was accepted with reluctance. Tribute was paid Mr. Coldham for his faithful service over the past 30 years.

It was decided to clean the snow from the sidewalks without assuming the responsibility for this work in future.

The Peachland Ladies' Curling Club held a general meeting to discuss the annual open bonspiel on February 12, 13, and 14. The prize committee reported arrangements

Former India missionary, Rev. A. Gordon, says gov't carrying out Gandhi's policies

Speaking on Gandhi's policies, which are being followed by the present Indian government, Rev. A. Gordon delivered an informative address to members of the AOTS Club last week. A graduate of Brandon College and McMaster University, Mr. Gordon returned home last year after forty years spent in the mission field in India.

Five points in Gandhi's policy, as outlined by Mr. Gordon, are actually the same as the present government of the Republic of India is following, members of this government being "Gandhi-ites." These points are: boycotting, free education, prevention of child marriage, temperance and the removal of untouchability.

Boycotting, or the prevention of import of all foreign goods was intended as a means of stimulating home industry; weaving, etc., particularly of the native cloth, khaddar. Establishment of mills and the hiring of native labor, while a good thing in itself, did not prove very successful for the reason that poor materials and poor workmanship resulted in shoddy goods. It will take years before the workers gain sufficient experience to produce materials that will meet competition, Mr. Gordon said.

FREE EDUCATION

Free education for all—but without the imposition of taxation for its provision is but another example of the government's impractical point of view. Gandhi was a barrister, without experience in financing, and though the promotion of education is desired in India today, his idea, held also by his followers, that the mere issuing of notes to provide for such education, creates an impossible situation when there is nothing substantial to meet those notes.

CHILD MARRIAGE

Regarding child marriage, it was pointed out that though the government passed the Sarda Act twenty years ago, there is no enforcement of it. This act bans marriage for girls under fourteen and boys below the age of eighteen; but while some follow it, it is largely disregarded for various reasons, mainly that of money.

Fourthly, Mr. Gordon spoke of temperance, saying that while Hindu's, taken as a whole, are a temperate people, the wretched conditions under which the poor and the outcasts live make them an easy prey to the imbibing of native brews. Lack of good drinking water is another incentive.

Palmyra, coconut and fig trees grow in profusion, and all of these may be tapped for a juice that, mixed with "barm" left from a previous batch, and then placed in the sun for a couple of hours, produces a potent drink. A ban was placed on the import of liquor; but this, though applied with the intention of at least partly ousting the "foreigner," also reduced an always lucrative form of government revenue.

CASTE SYSTEM

Mr. Gordon's last point was that of the degrading caste system, and in speaking of the "untouchables," he said that no one knows the origin of such caste, whose only means of livelihood was by doing of the most menial tasks.

The British government offered them education, however, and so great was the response that some even became magistrates—to the great indignation of the Brahmin. The present government has continued the British policy with the result that to a great extent the caste and outcaste system has broken down—at least legally.

Unofficially however, the ban still exists, though the name "untouchable" may no longer be applied to them.

With all of these points, except that of boycotting, the missionaries are in full agreement; but realize that the present visionary form of government cannot bring them to full fruition. This government is carrying out the policies of their leader, Gandhi, who had great influence among his people, and the fact that he was not a Christian may have carried added weight.

CLOSING GAPS

HALIFAX—Tenders have been called for construction of the first two Trans-Canada Highway bridges in Nova Scotia. They are at Caladonia and Horne.

BIG RESORT PLANNED ST. JOHN'S Nfld.—A group of Newfoundland business men led by former legislature member George MacKinnon plan to build a modern tourist resort near here. Mr. MacKinnon plans to turn his property near Briggs into a modern motel cabins with central lounge.

He is the man who for more than 66 years has shown his fellow citizens how Manufacturers Life policies can provide a sure way to protect their families and to save for the future. He is the man who helped arrange Life Insurance contracts that since 1887 have paid benefits of over $500,000,000.

The Manufacturers Life's 67th Annual Report reveals that during 1953 alone the benefits paid to policyholders and the families of those who died reached a record total of $30,179,781. Assets of the Company also passed the ½ billion figure during the year and now total $540,282,970. A record volume of $245,143,512 of new insurance was purchased by over 39,000 clients in 1953. Total insurance and retirement protection in force is $1,744,984,094.

To accommodate its growing business the Manufacturers Life completed in 1953 an eleven story addition to its Head Office building in Toronto. The increased office space and the modern business equipment incorporate many time saving features to speed the flow of service to policyholders.

Grammar

Grammar is a wonderful tool—like a buzz saw—when it's kept under control, an excellent servant—like Old Dobbin—when not kept worked. In other words, it has its place in the general scheme of things.

The other day I received a clipping of an editorial with a notation drawing attention to the fact that I had made two simple grammatical mistakes. Rather the same mistake twice. I think the notation was sent in a kindly manner. Unfortunately, there was no signature, so I could not personally thank the sender. I do so now, sincerely.

Of course, those mistakes should not have been made. I know better than to use "who" when I should use "whom". And I have no excuse. It's an odd thing but as soon as one sees something which one has written in actual print, one can always see how it could have been improved. That phrase would have been better, this way, the point being made would have been clearer if this argument rather than that one had been used. Never have I read IN PRINT anything I have written that I would not change it if it were not too late.

And so, I seldom read in print anything I have written. I do the best I can with it on the typewriter and stand or fall by that. To read it in print is too discouraging. (But, darn it, if I make a mistake, the proofreader is supposed to catch it.)

This incident of using who for whom recalls a somewhat similar case which occurred in the State of New York a year or so ago. A scholarly legislator discovered a phrase in a law which read "who to be cited." Whereupon he introduced a bill to change the "who" to "whom". The bill, doubtless, went through the prescribed readings, was duly engrossed, referred to committee, brought to the floor, passed by the lower house, then by the senate, and Governor Dewey signed it. But not without this protest:

"The grammatical error occurs in a section heading, and aside from the question of precise usage there is no problem as to clarity or construction of the statute. Although I am impressed by the laudable erudition, the bill in other respects is wholly unnecessary."

A million schoolboys and a million writers will know just how he felt.

Under the tower at Ottawa

By O. L. JONES, M.P.

JANUARY 27, 1954

The Prime Minister introduced a bill to increase the indemnity of members, senators and cabinet ministers which met with a mixed reception from members of the opposition groups, the Liberals, Social Credit and four CCF Members supporting the bill on its first appearance in the House.

The Conservatives and 13 members of the CCF group voted against the bill—again for various reasons. The Conservatives were opposed to the method of increase. Mr. Drew said that the members should receive adequate pay but that a royal commission should decide the amount and definitely the proposed increase to Senators should be reviewed by the same commission. It was on this basis that the Progressive Conservatives opposed the bill. The 13 CCF members, including myself, who opposed the bill did so on grounds varying from no increase whatsoever to a compromise increase to $8,000. There will be a heated debate at the next stage of this bill when particularly the clause dealing with the senate will be subject to review. It and when the increase is granted, there should definitely be an attempt made to prevent absenteeism which, as one writer said, "has become chronic."

Many Ontario and Quebec members spent a long week-end at home sometimes leaving on Thursday or Friday and many failed to turn up again until the Tuesday. Whilst such absences are subject to a penalty, methods of checking absenteeism leaves much to be desired.

DISABLED PEOPLE. In view of the numerous letters that I have received regarding allowances for totally and permanently disabled people, it is gratifying to know that the federal-provincial conference on this matter, held this week, has given general approval to the federal government's declaration of intention to introduce enabling legislation providing for assistance to this unfortunate group of people. While there has been no public statement, it has been rumored that the proposals will be $40.00 a month to those qualified, with the federal and provincial governments splitting the payments evenly. There are, roughly, 25,000 to 35,000 people who would benefit under this proposed act, the number depending on what age limit is decided upon for those who will receive the benefits.

HOUSING ACT. The new housing act is making progress over a pretty rough road in parliament. It has been attacked as inadequate and not providing home units for those mostly in need of this accommodation. However, it will be an improvement on the last Act. The main feature in the new one is that banks will enter the house mortgage scheme for the first time. While this has been the custom in the United States, it is something new in Canada. Actually, the banks are taking no risks because the interest rate will be 5½% and the bank loan is insured under the act so that they cannot possibly lose. In other words, the banks have found a good investment outlet with insurance protection for their participation. (The high interest rate came in for severe criticism, many feeling that the scheme was more concerned with assisting lending institutions to find outlets for their investments rather than a scheme to provide homes but, at the same time, suggesting that money loaned directly by the Bank of Canada should be available at not more than 2%. The bill, in spite of all the objections, will go through without any changes.

The increase in postal rates will become law on April 1. This bill is unpopular with most members and I, personally, feel the government should prove its case when arguments were produced and evidence supplied that many improvements could be made in the postal system that would appreciably reduce the cost of operation. This, with the fact that the stamps on cheques should have been continued, would have eliminated the need for an increase. The government was charged with eliminating the stamp tax on cheques just prior to last election for political purposes and now they find themselves without this revenue and are placing it on the ordinary postal customer whereas it was contended in debate that the cheque stamp tax was mostly paid by large industrial concerns who could well afford to do so. Coinciding with the increase will be a faster mail service as it is the government's intention to send all first class mail by air without any extra charges.

SENATE LEADER. The promotion of the last Speaker of the House, Mr. Ross MacDonald, was generally approved but his appointment as senate leader was not so popular among the Liberal senators who, naturally, felt that their power to choose their own leader had been taken away by the government or possibly the cabinet. Further discontent has appeared in the Liberal ranks owing to Mr. MacDonald's appointment as solicitor general, thus overlooking many worthy members of the Commons who had, presumably, hoped to receive this post. Freely mentioned in this connection are Mr. George McFarlane who has been a member since 1935 and has done excellent parliamentary work as assistant to Mr. Howe, and Colonel David Croll who has also been overlooked. Both these men are prominent solicitors. I understand the reasons given were that Ontario already had five ministers in the cabinet. It was, therefore, a shock to these people to find that, in spite of that answer, Senator MacDonald, also an Ontario member, was promoted making six cabinet ministers from Ontario.

KURT MEYER CASE. The Kurt Meyer case was briefly discussed when Mr. Drew asked for the production of papers and correspondence in connection with this case. It appears that General Kurt Meyer who had been charged with being responsible for the death of several Canadians in the last war and had been tried and proven guilty, received what many thought was a very light sentence for such a crime. This light sentence was spent in Canada but, a little over a year ago, for some strange reason General Kurt Meyer was returned to Europe to complete his jail sentence. Now the sentence has been reduced drastically as a result of a court of enquiry into the case. Brooks Claxton informed the House that, in all probability, Kurt Meyer would be freed during the course of the current year. The government rejected Mr. Drew's request and no information beyond the bare facts have been made available to the members of the House leaving us to surmise that the release of Kurt Meyer has a great deal to do with the resurrection of the old German Army. Naturally, one has misgivings as to the part that this man will play in the proposed new German Army—whether we are again asking for a repetition of the old German menace that has been a nightmare for the last two or three generations.

The Rutland correspondent wishes to correct an error appearing in last Thursday's paper when it was reported that the fire brigade had answered a call during the recent cold spell to put out a chimney fire at the home of Miss Edith Gay. This chimney fire occurred at the home of P. Seguin, whose home is opposite to that of Miss Gay.

Jones urges gov't to help home owners in rural areas

A plea that the government instruct the banks to be particularly helpful to potential home builders in rural areas, and "reverse the treatment that these people have received during the last year or two from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation," was made in the House of Commons by O. L. Jones, M.P. (Okanagan Boundary).

Speaking on the debate on government legislation to give home owners more leeway to borrow money for new structures, Mr. Jones said:

"If the people in our rural areas were properly housed it would help to attract tourists to different points throughout the country, where they could look at decent homes and see our citizens living under decent conditions. But today you see houses with holes in the roof, barns that are propped up in order to keep them from falling completely over. That kind of thing is not a credit to this wealthy country."

Text of Mr. Jones' address, as reported in Hansard, follows:

"I listened with interest to the hon. member for Burnaby-Coquitlam (Mr. Rieger) refer to the tarpaper shacks in his riding. To-night I heard the member for the adjacent riding of Burnaby-Richmond (Mr. Goggin) more or less denying it but apologizing for the condition. Neither of these members needs to worry at all, because you will find tarpaper shacks in every riding in this dominion. As a matter of fact I venture to say that more tarpaper shacks were built last year than all the units under Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. They continue to be built for the simple reason that while these people are not anxious to live in these shacks, they cannot meet the requirements of this bill or any government legislation that has ever existed so far as the securing of a home is concerned.

These are the people who need homes; therefore I am going to say a few words on their behalf. I do not intend to deal with the particular bill before us, a bill that I call the bill for the underdog. It does not have anything to do with the group to whom I am going to refer. Hansard will disclose that several excellent speeches have been made contributing, to my mind, very valuable information which if made use of would help solve the housing problem. That applies to members of every party who have spoken.

The housing problem is a growing one, and during the last few years we have not even held our own with the housing demand. I am not blaming the government entirely. I am blaming what is commonly called the free or private enterprise system, for it has failed us. For instance, insurance companies entered the housing field when they had no other outlet for their funds. They took things over lock, stock and barrel for the purpose of investment, not as a scheme to supply homes for the people of Canada. When other more lucrative fields opened up they withdrew from the scene, and the banks will do the same thing in a few years' time.

The free or private enterprise group of builders in this country have practically left the speculative field of building entirely alone, and they are not interested in coming back to it. Neither the government nor private enterprise have given a thought to the millions of Canadians whose earnings are between the $3,600 or $3,700 mark. We in this group are particularly worried year. Ottawa, for instance, has 24 per cent of the wage-earning families receiving less than $2,000 a year. This bill does not mean a thing to them. Its language is not understood by them, and the intention of the bill is not to cover them.

Yet I feel that if any particular group needs assistance it is the group with incomes of less than $3,500 a year. It is this group that needs the most help. Other people can find other means to raise money to build their own homes, through the loan companies or banks, and they would do so if this scheme were not in effect. These people are the victims of economic conditions, quite often beyond their control. I will admit that sometimes it is their own fault, but generally speaking they are the victims of our present system. But they too are human; they too have feelings; they too have children they would like to have properly housed. They would like decent homes in which to live just the same as the person getting $5,000 or $10,000 a year. That aspect has not been considered at all.

Bearing that in mind, I would suggest to the minister that after this bill is put through as I presume it will be, he set up a commission to investigate ways and means of providing homes for this type of person who is industrious, who has a sound moral character, who is a good Canadian citizen, who was probably born in this country and who has prospects of raising a fine family. All he wants is assistance in order to build a home.

The hon. member for Cariboo (Mr. Leboe) made some reference to rural areas when he spoke. I feel the same as he does. Something should be done for the people in the rural areas who also need decent homes. All you need to do is go by train or drive a car across this country, and in every province you will find evidence that what I say is absolutely true. A vast number of poorly-built houses, unpainted, some of them covered with tarpaper, are to be found. To me they constitute a visible disgrace to a wealthy country like Canada.

Having concentrated on the urban areas, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation have neglected entirely this worth-while field. If the people in our rural areas were properly housed it would help to attract tourists to different points throughout the country where they could look at decent homes and see our citizens living under decent conditions. But today you see houses with holes in the roof, barns that are propped up in order to keep them from falling completely over. That kind of thing is not a credit to this wealthy country.

This bill will not change that at all. I am going to suggest that in addition to making a survey in connection with the low income group the minister also make a survey of the rural areas. As someone said, it is a good idea to have the people scattered instead of congested in possible slum areas. Under the old scheme the insurance companies and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation were not interested very much in the rural areas because the lack of fire protection and other facilities made their investment less safe than investment in organized centres.

But I would point out that even though there may be a lack of such facilities in the rural areas, they would find a higher moral responsibility among the people. Those people would be more likely to look after the loan they had acquired in order to build a home. They would meet their obligations on a higher moral basis than the people in organized centres. I realize I am sticking out my neck, but it is my impression that people in the country have a high standard of morality. This would compensate for the lack of fire-fighting equipment and other things. If we are going to assist these people it is essential that money be made available at not more than 2 per cent. Other speakers have dealt with this so I shall not go into any further detail.

I am almost sure it was the last Liberal government of British Columbia that paid particular attention to housing in rural areas. They reduced taxation on farm homes to a nominal amount in order to encourage the painting and improvement and enlargement of homes, as well as installing facilities such as baths and toilets inside the houses. Over the last few years those concessions have resulted in a definite improvement in the homes being built and those already built. That is quite evident as you cross the province of British Columbia today.

I suggest to the minister that he instruct the banks to be particularly helpful to the borrowers in rural areas, to reverse the treatment that these people have received during the last year or two from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—The Liberals may have only five members in the Legislature but those five are showing they're going to make themselves heard at the session of the House opening Feb. 16.

Indeed—it seems that at this moment the Liberals have stolen the ball of opposition away from the CCF. The CCF is strangely silent. They're in a difficult position, of course; in their opposition to the government they must join the Liberals. And, at this moment the Liberals have grabbed the initiative and intend to hang on to it. They're going to play for the headlines, hoping to keep before the public eye, so that when the next election rolls around the Liberals won't be forgotten.

The Liberal win in the November by-election in Victoria was a potent shot in the arm to the Liberals. Their sagging spirits have been bucked up no end. They now see a ray of hope—where before all was blackness.

The five-Liberal M.L.A.'s—leader Arthur Laing, P. A. Gibbs, of Oak Bay; A. Bruce, of Prince Rupert; Gordon Gibson, of Lillooet; and George Gregory, of Victoria, held a pre-session meeting in Victoria, to plan their legislative strategy. Judging by what they did, they're going to do plenty of talking at the session.

PRESS FOR ECONOMY

For instance, they're going to hammer away for economy. They issued, after their meeting, a press statement calling upon the government "to reduce public expenditure," and they said they would "proffer their co-operation to this effect."

"We suggest a thorough and vigorous inspection of every government department, with the strictest economy in view," said the Liberal M.L.A.'s. "We believe a reduction in the forthcoming budget is a practical possibility, and we think this additional purchasing power in the hands of individuals will be more effective in our economy than under government control."

However, Premier Bennett, who'll be minister of finance by the time the session comes, has said that the budget cannot be lower this year; that government services are always expanding, and that costs money. No one, he says, wants the services cut, yet everyone howls for economy.

Perhaps the Liberals, at the session, will tell the government where money can be saved. It's always easy for oppositions to do that. It sounds good, too. Often it pays off politically. The public is usually impressed by calls for government economy. But, when an opposition becomes the government, as always, sooner or later, happens, they're usually just as spendy as the government.

PGE STAND
The Liberals' attitude to the PGE is rather strange. It seems here they're opposing Premier Bennett merely for the sake of opposing. The Liberals have long said, like everyone else, that the PGE should be completed. Yet now comes an about-face. The Liberals say this about the PGE, "We are presently of the opinion that a first-class highway along the coast to Squamish would cost less than half as much as the rail extension contemplated; it would open up the magnificent Howe Sound country, give access by automobile to Garibaldi Park, and give faster and less expensive passenger and freight service to the Peace River country. We think, however, that no steps should be taken until a full enquiry has been held by a committee of the Legislature, when experts could be called and a decision made on all the facts in the best interests of the province as a whole."

ENOUGH ENQUIRIES
One wonders why on earth the Liberals want the delaying action of an enquiry by a legislative committee. Surely there have been enough enquiries into the PGE.

The government must be commended for its decision to go ahead with the Squamish-North Vancouver extension of the PGE. In the past governments said the PGE should be finished, but, as an excuse for doing nothing, had someone or other enquiry into it, and then the findings were hidden away in a dusty cupboard somewhere in the Legislative Buildings.

The Liberals are forgetting nothing as they set out to try and become the chief opposition, to Mr. Bennett's Social Creditism. They are wailing labor, with this: "We are deeply concerned over the serious deterioration in labor-management relations. We call upon the government to re-establish at once a permanent labor relations board of representatives and capable individuals giving full-time study to the avoidance of disputes. Advancement of the province's economy can only be found where the interests of labor and management are complementary."

TAUGHT USEFUL CRAFTS

Movement rapidly-growing across Canada to assist mentally handicapped children take their normal place in world

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the Kelowna and District Society for the Mentally Handicapped formed several months ago in this city.)

By DOROTHY GELLATLY

Parents and friends of mentally retarded children, and children otherwise handicapped, have formed societies across Canada to assist children in their treatment, training and rehabilitation, as well as to advise and counsel parents with their problems.

All over Canada the movement is growing—the movement to help the retarded child; to make life easier, better and more useful for those who are destined to remain at the mental age of childhood.

What has been accomplished already by these groups is amazing, and here in the Okanagan, the Kelowna and District Society for the Mentally Handicapped has made outstanding progress in the few months since its inception.

Small groups across the country who have worked alone for several years are discovering that they are no longer alone, for all across the country their work is beginning to bear fruit. They have discovered that many of these children can learn a great deal when placed under the care of a teacher who understands their needs. Indeed, it is quite possible for children of this type to learn some simple task that will enable them to earn their living when they grow up.

PUBLIC CHARGE

On the other hand, if children capable of learning receive no training, they will almost certainly become a public charge; perhaps find themselves in juvenile court—or in jail—for it is well known that our prisons hold a good many criminals who started out life with the same terrible handicap as the children of whom we are speaking. It wasn't the handicap that got them into trouble—it was the fact that they had learned to hate the society that made fun of them and cast them off; that, and the fact that they had too much time on their hands.

PARENTS NEED EDUCATING

Nor is it only the children who need training. The parents of such children need education in their handling, and at one school in Ontario monthly sessions are designed to meet this need, for parents cannot expect teachers to accomplish in a few hours a day, the complete training of these children.

It has been pointed out that nothing is as important as a child; that mentally retarded children have the same fundamental rights that all children have; that home is basic in our way of life, but that home cannot do the job alone. With that realization has come the movement to provide a way of life for these children, according to their capabilities.

In B.C., Dr. W. C. Gibson, of the research clinic at UBC, with Dr. Margaret Kinnard and ten others, are working in a shack behind the chemistry building in an effort to close in on the cause of that terriblecrippler, schizophrenia (characterized by a split personality), and are doing valuable work in connection with the lack of development of retarded children, and in the cause of the aged.

FIND OUT CAUSE

Dr. Gibson is eager to give all of his time and energy to this work, but is handicapped by lack of funds. Of the million dollars spent annually on the mentally ill, he asks that one per cent be spent on research, and that rather than spend more and more on hospitals, we attack this terrible curse at its roots.

E. E. Winch is another man whose work is widely known among those interested in the subject, and who has long been associated with the welfare of the unfortunate people at Essondale.

USEFUL CRAFTS

Here in Kelowna, in the Aquatic lounge, mentally handicapped children are being taught useful crafts according to their ability, by a teacher well qualified for her task. Later this month, "Open House" will be held, when those interested in this work, and those still unaware of what is being accomplished in their midst, will have the opportunity of judging for themselves this worthwhile project.

A visit to this school, still in its infancy, cannot fail to arouse interest in the work of the Kelowna and District Society for the Mentally Handicapped, as will be told in another article.

Festival group again sponsors poster contest

High school students and others with an artistic flair will be interested in the poster competition offered again this year by The Okanagan Valley Musical Festival, under auspices of The Okanagan Valley Musical Competition Festival Association.

In past years many original and striking posters were entered. Since the festival embodies the varied forms of music, instrumental, vocal, spoken poetry or prose, and dancing in combination and solo, poster entrants have a splendid field from which to choose their theme.

Posters must reach the secretary not later than February 15 with entry form and nominal fee. Full information regarding the competition will be found in the festival's official syllabus of competitions which may be had upon request at The Kelowna Courier.

One person in every three is wholly or partially deaf in one ear or both.

Couple honored on wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cairns, 850 Harvey, were hosts to a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Lister, 774 Harvey, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary last Wednesday.

Several vocal solos were given by the bride of fifty years, after which a sing-song followed. A dainty lunch was served, after which, F. I. Crossley, of Okanagan Mission, on behalf of those present, gave an appropriate address, and presented the guests of honor with four lovely cups and saucers of floral design and trimmed with gold. Mr. Cairns also made an appropriate address to which both Mr. and Mrs. Lister suitably replied.

Packers beat Penticton 7-1; break two-year scoring jinx

PENTICTON—Kelowna Packers set a record for the season here Tuesday night by soundly thumping the rampaging Penticton V's 7-1 in a one-sided game.

The victory was the first in two years on Penticton ice for the Packers.

The leg-weary Penticton crew handed the Hergymen five of the seven goals on a silver platter in the absence of Bill Dick and Grant Warwick, who were called home to Saskatchewan owing to the illness of their father.

Kelowna took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a shot by Joe Connors when the rubber bounced out of netminder Ivan McClelland's arms.

Packers stepped ahead 4-0 in the second frame with goals by Frank Hoskins, Bill McCulley and Don Culley with no reply from Penticton.

MCINTYRE SCORES
Jack McIntyre—coaching the team for Grant Warwick—potted the lone marker for V's at 7:25 in the final period on a flat screen shot to break Doug Stevenson's chances for what was shaping up to be a shut-out. Kelowna was short-handed at the time with players in the penalty box.

After racking up four goals in the first two periods, Packers added insult to injury with three more by Jim Middleton, Don Culley and Bo Carlson to dump the helpless V's on the short end of the scoring ally.

The win moves Kelowna one point ahead of Kamloops and two behind second-place Vernon Canadians.

Fourteen minor penalties were handed out in the game.

SUMMARY
First period—Kelowna, Connors (McCulley) 10:58; Penalties: Culley, Fairburn, Kirk, McDonald, Hanson.
Second period—Kelowna, Hoskins (unassisted) 11:57; Kelowna, McCulley (Connors) 14:11; Kelowna, Culley (Durban) 15:14. Penalties: Mascotto, Kirk.

Third period—Penticton, McIntyre (Kilburn, McDonald) 7:25; Kelowna, Middleton (unassisted) 9:48; Kelowna, Culley (Leek) 14:45; Kelowna, Carlson (unassisted) 16:28. Penalties: Leek, Kell, McAvoy 2, McDonald, Carlson, McCulley, Bathgate.

Trophies, cash await winners NHL competition shapes up

The National Hockey League will present four trophies for outstanding individual achievement at the end of the 1963-64 championship schedule.

Each one of these trophies will be accompanied by $1,000 from the N.H.L.

The four trophies are Hart, Lady Byng Memorial, Calder Memorial and James Norris Memorial. The latter trophy will be awarded for the first time. It is to be presented annually to the regular defense player who demonstrates the greatest all-around ability in that position.

A poll conducted by hockey writers and broadcasters from the six N.H.L. cities voted for the top candidates for these trophies at the half-way mark (games up to January 1, 1964) of the current season.

Regardless of the number of selectors in each city, the total value of all votes cast is equal in each city.

The minimum number of selectors for each city is three, which is the number used in Toronto, Chicago and Detroit. New York had six selectors, Boston had 13 and Montreal 22. Votes have all been tabulated and reduced to a common denominator of 27. This consists of three first-place votes, at five points each, three second-place votes at three points apiece and three third-place votes valued at one point each for each city.

LEADING CANDIDATES
A player picked at a unanimous choice for any of the trophies would poll 80 points—18 first-place votes at five points each.

At the half-way mark of the 1963-64 season the selectors picked the leading candidates for the trophies as follows:

AI Rollins, Chicago Black Hawks—phenomenal defenseman, placed first for the Hart Trophy, regarded as the top individual award in the National Hockey League.

Red Kelly, Detroit's smooth and effective defenseman, is out in front in balloting for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy which is presented annually to "the player adjudged sportsmanlike and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the season." Kelly, winner of this award last season, polled 60 points.

Don (Bones) Raleigh, clever center of the New York Rangers, is second with 31 points, while the veteran Chicago right winger, Billy Mosienko, is third with 21 points.

FAB AHEAD
Earl (Ditch) Reibel, Detroit Red Wings' newest center, broke fast from the barrier and is far ahead in the voting for the Calder Memorial trophy which is presented each season to "the player selected as the most proficient in his first year of competition in the National Hockey League." The 23-year-old Reibel polled 61 points in the first-half balloting. Camille Henry of New York Rangers was next with 49 points, while another Detroit, Bill Dineen, was third with 31 points.

In the first-half voting for the National Hockey League's James Norris Memorial Trophy, Red Kelly

Commercial league playoffs resume Sunday

The second games of the current Commercial League hockey playoffs continue at the Memorial Arena Sunday.

In the opening tilt, Black Bombers—winners of the first game last Sunday—met Juniors at 2:30 p.m. Rutland, who knocked out Firemen

6-1 last week-end, meets Firemen at 3:30 p.m.

The playoffs are a best-of-three series.

Next Monday night, Kelowna midjets—who won their playoff opener 7-3 January 26—meet Vernon at Vernon, game time 8:00 p.m.

Peachland curling club members have successful 'spiel

PEACHLAND—The Peachland Curling Club's local bonspiel came to a very successful climax Sunday with lots of good curling in evidence. One unusual game saw the T. Dell rink with a 16 to 0 score on the five end over the F. Speckman aggregation. Final winners were: Westbank Orchards Trophy, George Long rink over B. Maah rink; B event, Gregg Burns over Ted Clements; C event, John Brown over Dick Renneberg.
